BEAUTY TRICKS

Not a fashion statement for the faint of heart; fun, faux tattoos made an appearance on several catwalks (including Rodarte and Jean Paul Gaultier), and are set to be a major beauty trend this season.

Ever with its manicured fingertips on the pulse of exciting beauty must-haves, Chanel has developed an elegant and tasteful take on this trend, designed by Peter Philips to roughen up the otherwise supra-femininity of their bucolic catwalk show.

Les Trompe L'Œil de Chanel (meaning trick of the eye) is a collection of 55 non-permanent transfers inspired by the catwalk versions. Creating the illusion of jewellery and taking inspiration from Coco's favourite flourishes, the collection features chains interlaced with leather, and pearls against black detailing, turning the skin into an iconic representation of Chanel's signature use of monochrome and pearl.

MUST HAVE ITEM: ARTISTRY NAIL COLOUR

Already one of the world's leading skincare and cosmetic brands, ARTISTRY has launched their first-ever nail colour collection. The special long-lasting formula intensifies the colour, whilst also preventing chipping and peeling. The collection contains 12 eye-catching colours in matt and metallic finishes, including the classic vampish blood red Siren, delicate and subtle Champagne and on trend taupe Goddess, this season's hottest nail colour.
